

media conglomerates cannot own every source of media because it would restrict the diversity of opinion that is essential to a healthy democracy